Adeboyega Oladipupo born February 5th 1996 known professionally as Fireboy DML is a Nigerian singer, songwriter. He is signed to YBNL Nation an independent record label founded by Nigerian rapper Olamide.

His debut studio album Laughter, Tears and Goose-bumps released on October 2nd 2020 features guest verses and collaborations from Olamide, Joeboy and the 2020 Sound city MVP Awards Festival.

On August 19th 2020, Fireboy released his sophomore album titled "APOLLO". In his album, Fireboy plays around with a lot of sounds and genres, with a strong focus on his afrobeat theme was on 2012. In "APOLLO", the songs cut across various genres including Afro-Pop, Afro-Fusion, Afro-Soul and Afro-Jazz guitar sound that we heard on most of the songs on the album.

It's a gentle because although his fans know that he can handle up a storm afrobeat - like he showed in his tracks like "Omo Oluge" and "Washlori" - they still expect, and he delivers, a lot of soft songs like "Ye", "Bandan" and "Jealous Kind" Like Chris Brown's "Forever Has York City Girl", it seemed like listeners would be getting the sound they were used to.

Moreover, with the release of "ER" and "Vanity" right after - and with both songs sounding more Afrobeat than Afro-Pop, Fireboy DML is showing that he can do both. Fireboy DML's debut album would be one to spark a heated afrobeat debate! History would be made in the Afrobeat Genre.

Which is the top 5 of Apollo songs you have that your ears enjoy the sound?

1. Peru
2. Sunshine song
3. Bandan
